City of Port Lincoln is proud to host a free two-hour EnergySmart Saver workshop at the Ravendale Sporting Complex, Monday 9 October 2017 from 5.30pm. The workshop will be presented by Jon Dee, Managing Director of the charity DoSomething.

The workshop will educate people on what they can do to reduce their business and home energy bills. Jon will teach people how to negotiate a better deal with energy retailers, reduce lighting, heating, cooling and hot water costs to make homes and businesses more energy efficient.

The EnergySmart Saver workshop, which is one of Jon Dee's community activities across South Australia, is supported by funding from the State Government. Jon Dee is one of Australia's most influential environmentalists and you can find more information about him at www.jondee.com.

Mayor Bruce Green said, "This free workshop is a great initiative and an opportunity for people in the community to learn about what they can do to reduce their electricity costs in their home and/or business, especially with the warmer months upon us".

Jon Dee will be giving away free copies of his new energy efficiency guide to people who attend his workshop. An optional Schnitzel Dinner ($20) and the bar facilities will be available after the workshop at an additional cost and bookings are essential.
