MAYOR'S CHARITY CONCERT CLOSES ITS CURTAINS AFTER EIGHT YEARS

Mayor Bruce Green will be hosting his final Mayor's Charity Concert on Sunday 12 August 2018 at the Nautilus Arts Centre from 3pm to 6pm. As it is his last charity concert Mayor Bruce Green is taking the opportunity to relive some of the great moments and acts performed over the last seven concerts.

This year the format has changed to an afternoon format. As always, there will be a variety of performances and surprises.

Mayor Bruce Green said, "I hope to see as many people at my last concert to support and celebrate the wonderful talent we have in our community. Live entertainment releases energy and spontaneity that can't be matched".

As in previous years, all proceeds from the Mayor's Charity Concert will be donated to a local charity with this years proceeds going to the Eyre Peninsula Community Foundation.

The Eyre Peninsula Community Foundation helps build community capacity to address local needs through charitable grant-making and encouraging philanthropy.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed presenting these concerts each year throughout my terms as Mayor of City of Port Lincoln and would like to thank the many people involved in all aspects of the concert, especially the local performers, who volunteer their time to perform and be part of my concert. It has provided many fond memories for me that I will remember as my time as Mayor" said Mayor Green.

Tickets are on sale through the Nautilus Arts Centre Box Office, www.nautilusartcentre.com.au or phone 8621 2351.
